GDPR, or the General Data Protection Regulation is a new set of EU regulations set to come into force, as a replacement to the existing Data Protection Act. It is the rules and regulations for personal data protection, and every organisation within the EU must comply. The new single data protection act will make major changes to all of Europe's privacy laws and will replace the outdated Data Protection Directive from 1995.

The GDPR regulates the collection and usage of personal data of a data subject. The personal data has to belong to a living, identified or identifiable natural person. This means that the GDPR does not apply to deceased persons or to non-natural persons (e.g., corporations). It also means that the person must be either identified or capable of being identified, directly or indirectly, by reference to an identification number or one or more factors specific to that person.

DATA PROCESSING TERMS DEFINITIONS

"Controller" means the entity which determines the purposes and means of the Processing of Personal Data. In this case, ESTRO.

"Data Protection Laws and Regulations" means all laws and regulations, including laws and regulations of the European Union, the European Economic Area and their member states, Switzerland and the United Kingdom, applicable to the Processing of Personal Data under the Agreement.

"Data Subject" means the identified or identifiable person to whom Personal Data relates.

"Personal Data" means any information relating to an identified or identifiable natural person and, an identified or identifiable legal entity (where such information is protected similarly as personal data or personally identifiable information under applicable Data Protection Laws and Regulations).

"Processing" means any operation or set of operations which is performed upon Personal Data, whether or not by automatic means, such as collection, recording, organization, structuring, storage, adaptation or alteration, retrieval, consultation, use, disclosure by transmission, dissemination or otherwise making available, alignment or combination, restriction, erasure or destruction.

"Processor" means the entity which Processes Personal Data on behalf of the Controller.

"Sub-processor" means any Processor engaged by a Processor to process the Controller’s data.

"Supervisory Authority" means an independent public authority which is established by an EU Member State pursuant to the GDPR.

"Third party processors" refers to companies delivering products and services to ESTRO for specific purposes. An example would be a company providing a software tool allowing persons to register for a workshop. These companies will not use contact details for their own commercial purposes but process the data on behalf of ESTRO. Another example would be a company processing payment on behalf of ESTRO, for example when registering to attend the ESTRO Congress.

"ESTRO contact" is a person in contact with ESTRO with an ESTRO account who is neither an ESTRO member nor participates to any ESTRO activities (such as courses and congress).

"ESTRO participant" is a person who participates to ESTRO activities (course, congress, live or online workshop).
“ESTRO member” is a person who is an ESTRO member and has therefore access to dedicated benefits, depending on its membership type.
